

Collaboration & Targeting High Risk Groups on College Campuses: The Role of Leadership

Carolyn W. Kern, PhD, LPCS, NCC
Associate Professor
University of North Texas
Carolyn.kern@unt.edu

Community

- What are Campus Resources?
- Who can be Partner?
- What do we need to do to develop a relationship?

Identifying Risk Groups

- Who is High Risk?
- Literature indicates
 - ✓ LGTB
- Recent Events on one campus

Existing Structure and Opportunities

- Student Development Staff Liaisons
- New Program for returning Veterans
- Office of Money Management
- Academic Alert program for faculty

New Initiatives

Care Team

- Membership
- Process of Development
- Goals
- Issues
- Current Activities
- Media

Lessons Learned

- Listen and be willing to hear who might be an AT-Risk on your campus.
- Look for new opportunities.
- Be open when approached by others.
- Create a capacity to work with all groups.

BE BOLD AND REACH OUT TO ALL THE GROUPS AROUND YOU.

You never know who's life maybe changed by actions you take!

Our Challenge!

Lives depend on our working as a
community.
Develop a larger campus community
and make a difference.

Vision

"Keep young people alive until they find their purpose"

~ Dr. Carolyn Kern

Questions

?