

Reach Out to Untapped Partners

There are staff both on campus and off campus that may be able to help you with your program. If you already have partners, keep up the good work. Also keep an eye out for other staff or groups you can reach out to, or relationships you can deepen. Look to other campuses for ideas of potential partners. Think outside the box for some untapped partners you may not have initially considered, such as in the following areas:

- Specific departments and courses of study on your campus
- Existing organizations in your community

Brainstorm potential partners you may not have originally considered. Use the following questions as prompts.

Potential Partners		Next Steps
Who else is interested in and affected by this topic?	Example: Pharmaceutical graduate student group interested in means restriction to medication.	Find out who the student leader is for this group and attend a group meeting.
Who else is studying this topic?
Who would have an interest in promoting and evaluating the results?
Who have other campuses partnered with?		